EXPECT VOTE ON FARM BILL BY TUESDAY

CAL'S PLEA FOR FARM AID IS STRATEGY

President Checkmates Insurgents by Sponsoring Relief Measure
POLITICAL GESTURE
Expects No Action of Benefit to Farmers to Come Out of Suggestion

Washington—A last minute attempt to checkmate the attempt of the insurgent Republicans and Democrats to put the administration in a hole politically has been made by President Coolidge in his outpoken endorsement of the Fess bill to render aid to the farmers.
Mr. Coolidge was well aware of the efforts of the action of administration senators as well as Secretary Mellon in killing the Haugen plan. He felt it incumbent upon him to present an alternative or appear to be indifferent to agricultural legislation. He knew too that there was little chance that any counter-suggestion from the administration would receive enough votes to insure passage because the proponents of the Haugen plan want that of nothing at this session so they may carry the fight to the country between now and next December.
Nevertheless after a conference with Secretary Hoover of the Department of Commerce and Secretary Jardine of the Department of Agriculture and administration leaders in the senate it was decided by the administration to put out a statement clarifying the administration's position.

ANSWERS CRITICS
The chief significance of the president's action is that he has sought to answer the argument that excessive economy is standing in the way of extending financial aid to the farmers. Also the news of the surplus of $300,000,000 had to be met with some explanation as to why the administration would not agree to appropriate the necessary funds for farm relief. As an evidence that the money is not standing in the way of an agricultural relief plan, the president pointed out that he would favor an appropriation of $100,000,000 for loans to the farmers. He also demonstrated his desire to go part way by having all the co-operative organizations brought together under a single federal agency which could try to bring about "orderly marketing." The inference was that if the powers of the board were broad enough some effective plan of marketing the surplus might yet be worked out without the equalization fee or direct subsidy feature.

As a counter-move, the administration's plan is good strategy and will give defenders of the president a chance to point to his friendliness to farm legislation as a whole. Yet the opponents of the Haugen plan are absolutely convinced that no plan will be effective unless it contains the equalization fee and therefore they are prepared to vote against the administration counter-suggestion. Coupled with these votes are those who want to see the situation left in politics for the summer at least. The statement of the president was purposely couched in general terms as it was designed more as a gesture against foes of the administration than as a well-worked out program of farm relief. The situation at the moment is wholly political. Nothing is expected to come out of it for the farmer at this stage of the proceedings. The administration, however, is not going to permit the farm question to be used as an instrument of attack without fighting back.

FOOD TRAINS AID VICTIMS OF HUGE FLOOD

Soup Kitchens and Medical Supplies Relieve Suffering in Mexican Disaster

Mexico City—(AP)—Dispatches from Leon, where the flood waters of the Gomez river inundated large sections of the town, indicate the distress has been somewhat relieved by the arrival of food trains and of clothing, medical supplies and tent hospitals.
Soup kitchens have been established. Other large quantities of necessities are on the way, but muddy highways and the damaged railroad lines are handicapping transportation.

Portions of the town are still flooded. Bodies of persons drowned continue to be found. No estimate has been made of the number of fatalities. Houses weakened by the flood are falling. One thousand houses have already been entirely washed away. The destruction of all crops in the region surrounding Leon is reported as complete.
DEAD UNIDENTIFIED
The burning of the bodies of the dead continues. Bodies returned from the hills only to find piles of mud and debris where once were their humble homes. These people often are unable to learn the fate of missing relatives or friends, as most of the dead could not be identified before the bodies were buried or burned. Excelsior's correspondent at Leon expressed the belief that several hundred dead are lying under the debris.
Telegraph operators at Leon are receiving high praise for their work in remaining at their keys for two days and nights without food or sleep, sometimes in water waist deep.

MINNESOTA WELCOMES SWEDISH ROYAL COUPLE

Red Wing, Minn.—(AP)—Bagles, drums, a band and hundreds of cheering persons, many of whom were born in Sweden, welcomed Crown Prince Gustav Adolphus and Crown Princess Louise to Minnesota as the special train arrived here.

As the train neared Red Wing inmates of the state training school lined up along each side of the track in uniform and waved Swedish and American flags.

Mrs. M'Pherson Blames Devil For Her Kidnaping

Los Angeles—(AP)—While the district attorney and police Monday studied a map of information on the alleged abduction of Almee Semple McPherson, pastor of the million dollar Angelus Temple here, the evangelist's congregation is pondering her assertion that "the devil" is responsible for her unfortunate experience.
Addressing more than 7,000 persons Sunday in her first sermon at the Temple, Mrs. McPherson said that because of her unyielding stand on moral questions, Satan plotted her destruction. She said she had laughed at newspaper accounts of reputed plots to kidnap her prior to her disappearance last May but that she now realized "that even the devil was laying his plans."
Mrs. McPherson recounted her adventures in two sermons Sunday. She devoted most of the evening address to answering criticisms that have been made relative to her story that she was kidnapped. She told of being kept in a desert shack near Agua Prieta, Mexico and of her recovery at a hospital in Douglas, Arizona, after a 20 mile hike across the desert.
While making no reference to the absence of sunburn after her long tramp across the desert, the evangelist told how, while fleeing from her captors, she used part of her clothing as protection from the sun. She said the clothing and shoes showed no signs of wear because she avoided cactus and other desert vegetation.

ARREST 12 IN HUGE ITALIAN BANK SCANDAL

Involves Men Prominent in Fascist Party and Financial Circles

Rome—(AP)—Italy is in the throes of a widespread financial scandal in which men prominent in political and financial circles are involved. Twelve men already have been arrested in various cities, while warrants have been issued for ten others.
The scandal involves men who were high in the fascist party councils during the regime of Robert Farinacci, whose office of secretary general was taken over some time ago by Signor Turati.

When Turati made a report on the recent closing of the Agricultural bank of Parma, which had deposits of $5,000,000 in its 20 flourishing branches, Premier Mussolini told him to go ahead and put down corruption regardless of the consequences.
Among those arrested is Count Luigi Lusignani, at one time president of the bank. It is said by police that he attempted to commit suicide when apprehended.
The specific charges have not been made public.
The newspaper says that the people of Parma are overjoyed at the trend of events and that numerous placards have been posted there dealing with the case, one of them saying "The duce's word will prevail."

NURSE KILLS MALE TAKES OWN LIFE

Suspect Unrequited Love Was Responsible for Double Tragedy

Chicago—(AP)—A few clippings most of them dealing with inconsistency of men to women, are the only uncovered clues offering a possible solution of the slaying of Norma Hewitt, 50 year old Lake Forest bachelor, by Miss Nora H. Renwick, 30, a nurse, who used the last bullet in her pistol to end her own life.
Hewitt, son of a former board of trade member, was related to several wealthy and socially prominent North Shore families.
"Man's love is of a man's life a thing apart," "his woman's whole existence," was one of the quotations found in the nurse's room after the bodies were discovered Sunday in Hewitt's home. The tenor of the clippings lead police to believe that a love affair that had cooled or an affection that was not requited drove Miss Renwick to the killing.
Miss Renwick, formerly employed as a nurse by Hewitt's aged mother, who died on June 9, was admitted to the Hewitt home by the housekeeper, who summoned her employer and left the two together. The housekeeper, who is deaf, did not hear the shots, and it was not until three hours later that she found the bodies. Hewitt had been shot twice, three bullets apparently had gone wide, and with the last the nurse had shot herself.

QUAKE DESTROYS ISLAND VILLAGE

Disaster in Mediterranean Basin Wipes Out One Town and Damages Others

Rome—(AP)—The village of Arkhangelo was wiped out and several other towns on the island of Rhodes were seriously damaged in Saturday's earthquake which was felt throughout the Mediterranean basin between Asia Minor, southern Italy and north Africa.
As far as is known only one person was killed, several were injured. Greater loss of life was prevented by the flight of the panic stricken population as soon as the first intimation of the approach of the dreaded earth tremor was felt.
The quake lasted only from 50 seconds to two minutes in various places and repeated itself three times. The severest damage was wrought on the island of Rhodes where several thousand houses were destroyed. Not a single important building was left standing at Arkhangelo, while 300 structures tumbled down at Rhodes.

Police could find no cause for the crime. Neighbors told of hearing a commotion and loud voices in the house about 1 A. M.

HOLD NOTED MAN IN WIFE'S DEATH

Dies from Fractured Skull Few Hours After Applying for Divorce

St. Petersburg, Fla.—(AP)—Eugene M. Elliott, noted in his college days as an athlete and in later years as an engineer, land promoter and a man of affluence, Monday faced a coroner's jury as a material witness at an inquiry into his wife's sudden death Saturday night.
His wife, Mrs. Elsie Fortier Elliott, died at a hospital three hours after her arrival at the institution from a fractured skull said by police to have been incurred in a fall from the rear steps of their residence in a fashionable suburb.
Elliott was released from custody Sunday night under $25,000 bond, after having passed Saturday night in the municipal stockade. Sunday he was taken to the county jail at Clearwater here where his release was effected after his attorneys threatened habeas corpus proceedings.
Divorce proceedings were instituted against Elliott by his wife Saturday only a few hours prior to her death.

ANXIOUS TO CLOSE DEBATE AND GO HOME

Congress Is Eager to Clear Up Final Measures and Adjourn Saturday

Washington—(AP)—Farm relief legislation having emerged into a clearer atmosphere, congressional plots are again heading hopefully toward the port of adjournment. Saturday is the date that tentatively have in mind for ending the legislative cruise which began in December.
Administration leaders in the senate expect to get a vote before Tuesday night on the Fess Tinchier credit measure and the cooperative market bill, and managers of the last deficiency bill in the house look for its passage the same day.

This would send the Fess Tinchier proposal to the house and the deficiency bill to the senate by the middle of the week, and house leaders are holding Wednesday open to expedite action on such farm legislation as the senate passes. Final action on farm relief and the deficiency bill would open the way for house leaders to re-offer the adjournment resolution recently blocked by a group headed by Chairman Madden of the appropriation committee who objected to the fixing of an adjournment date until they were disposed of.
To bring advocates of the bitterly controverted rivers and harbors bill into the lineup for adjournment, this measure, already passed by the house but facing long debate in the senate, probably will be given preferred status on the calendar of the short session beginning next December.

TABLE MANY BILLS
Other important measures which will have to wait for action in December, if the Saturday adjournment plan is carried out, will include coal legislation, the French debt settlement and the prohibition bill, which recently were definitely sidetracked for the current session at least.
Dispersal of the farm relief bills which last week obscured the plots view of a definite adjournment course was effected Saturday when proponents of the equalization fee program decided not to go forward with their move to block action on the cooperative marketing and Fess Tinchier measures.

President Coolidge's pronouncement in favor of the two proposals was given credit for this change in the atmosphere, and also led proponents of the Fess Tinchier measure to hope for majorities in both chambers despite dissatisfaction with the plan expressed by advocates of the equalization fee program.
Senate action must come first on the credit proposal, since it is before the chamber as an amendment to the cooperative marketing bill. The latter has been passed by the house, but the former would have to be submitted to that chamber for approval if passed by the senate.

RAP COOLIDGE FOR FAILURE ON FARM BILL

Farmers Hold Administration Responsible for Measure's Defeat

Des Moines, Iowa—(AP)—President Charles E. Hoar of the Iowa Farm Bureau federation Monday informed President Coolidge that farmers of the Midwest charged the administration "with full responsibility for failure to keep the promise made to our people" in 1924 when the Republican party pledged itself to economic equality of agriculture and industry.
In a telegram sent to the president and statement issued here, Mr. Hoar described farm relief proposals still pending in congress as makeshifts and proposals "to hand the farmers legislation that will be inadequate and in no way meet the requirements of the greatest present day national problem." He charged defeat of the McNary Haugen principal to a group which he said was now enjoying the advantages of the protective system and was unwilling to permit extension of that system to include agriculture.
Mr. Hoar said plans already were under way for a removal of the farm relief fight.

HINT MILLIONS EXPENDED IN SENATE RACE

Arkansas Democrat Says Smith and McKinley Spent $3,000,000

ATTORNEY GETS DRY PAY

Pennsylvania Deputy Attorney General on Dry League Payroll

Washington—(AP)—The senate campaign funds committee is pressing forward with its plan to make a comprehensive survey of the political activities of the Anti-Saloon league, Women's Christian Temperance Union, John Law Klan, church organizations, Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, and other groups identified with prohibition and similar issues involved in senatorial campaigns.

After completing the Pennsylvania primary, the committee plans to take up the Illinois Republican primary in which Senator McKinley was defeated for renomination by Frank L. Smith, chairman of the state utilities commission. Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, has called the senate's attention to charges that the McKinley forces expended $1,000,000 in this campaign and the Smith supporters $2,000,000—a charge described as "absolutely silly" by Allen F. Moore, Smith's campaign manager.

More information about the $120,000 dry law enforcement fund of the Pennsylvania Women's Christian Temperance union was sought Monday by the committee.

William B. Wright, deputy attorney general of the Keystone state, was the first witness.
Wright whose home is in Baltimore said he undertook dry law enforcement work in Pennsylvania in February, 1923, at the request of Governor Pinchot, and that he received $5,000 and expenses. This year Wright said his salary was increased to $8,000 but the only expenses allowed were traveling and telephone and telegraph expenses. The witness said that up to August 1, 1923, his salary was paid out of state appropriations, but that since it had come out of the W. C. T. U. fund.
John N. English was employed as assistant to Wright from August to December 1923, and was paid out of the special dry fund.

IDENTIFY WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN AUTO

Miami, Fla.—(AP)—Police Monday identified the body of a woman found locked in an automobile here Sunday as that of Mrs. T. G. Lamb, 25, of Tallahassee, Fla. The body shot through the heart, was found in a trunk in the rear of a vacant estate on fashionable Brickell avenue by a caretaker. Police found a pistol and a handbag on the seat, the latter containing $40 in cash and a brief note addressed to "George" which intimated intention of suicide because of unrequited love.

FREE WOMAN OF POISON CHARGE

Husband Must Also Stand Trial for Murder of First Wife

Elwood, Neb.—(AP)—Vindicated by a district court jury of any connection in the alleged poison slaying of her husband's first wife, Blanche, last August, Mrs. Kate Resler Davis turned her attention and that of her attorneys to obtaining the same vindication for Bert M. Davis, who faces retrial soon for murder in connection with the death.
After 41 hours of deliberation, the jury which last week heard the state accuse Mrs. Davis of aiding in poisoning Blanche Davis so she could wed her husband, Sunday morning returned a verdict of not guilty.
In finding Mrs. Resler Davis innocent, the jury had to consider the guilt or innocence of Davis the principal in the case. Without analogy in Nebraska jurisprudence, the case admitted bearing specifically on his case, attorneys declared.
Blanche Davis died last August 30. An autopsy showed presence of poison in her organs. However, it was more than four months after that charges naming Davis and Mrs. Resler, whom he had just married were filed.

BOARD CONSIDERS PLAN TO CHANGE STREET DRAINAGE

Fear Present System May Result in Damage to Concrete in Winter

Change of drainage plan for S. Cherry-st. south of Cherry-st. viaduct, was one of the principal matters to be considered at a meeting of the board of public works at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. The present plan calls for a ditch on either side of the boulevard to allow the water to run off into the sewer. It is feared, however, that some of the water may seep under the newly laid pavement, freeze in the winter and cause the concrete to crack. A proposed plan considered by the board is to grade the sides of the boulevard up to a level with the pavement so that the water will drain off on the concrete rather than in trenches at the side.

The board also made an inspection of Alhca park to consider a proposal of Fred F. Wettengel to close off about 300 feet of the extreme south end of S. Outagamie-st. which runs between Mr. Wettengel's property on the west and the city property on the east. Mr. Wettengel contends that this part of the street is never used and proposes to beautify it in keeping with the park property if the city will close it to traffic. The road runs from the front of the park to the side road forks off from S. Outagamie-st. into Alhca park south to the river bank. City officials had thought some of using this 300 feet of road for car parking.

REPORT SEEING PONZI IN TEXAS

Fail to Verify Rumor That Fugitive Financial Wizard Visited Houston

Houston, Texas.—(P)—Reports that Charles Ponzi, fugitive swindler, was in Houston Saturday remained unverified Monday. Sheriff T. A. Bunker, after investigating a rumor, reported that a man answering Ponzi's description appeared at Port Houston, said if the erstwhile "financial wizard" had been here he probably called Saturday in an effort to escape jurisdiction of eastern authorities.

In investigating the report Sheriff Bunker telegraphed Boston authorities for a description of Ponzi. This information failed to develop new clues as to Ponzi's whereabouts. Only two boats are known to have left Port Houston Saturday and it is understood a check of the crews by the captains failed to reveal anyone on board resembling the fugitive.

Ponzi has been making since the latter part of May, when he failed to appear in a Boston court to be sentenced as a "common and notorious thief." His conviction followed the collapse of his international postal reply coupon scheme several years ago. An appeal was dismissed by the supreme court.

The sheriff said he would continue the investigation.

DRIVER, TRYING TO PASS CAR, FORCED OFF ROAD

Three persons were badly cut about 5 o'clock Sunday night when a sedan driven by Wilmer Wagner and occupied by two other persons was crowded off the road against a culvert about 3 1/2 miles south of Black Creek on route 47.

When Mr. Wagner turned out to pass two other cars ahead of him, the one car also turned locking wheels with the Wagner car and crowding it against the culvert. Mr. Wagner and the other occupants of the car, Dorothy and Barbara Curtis were badly cut and were taken to an Appleton doctor.

While a wrecking car from Black Creek was loading the demolished car onto the truck, a tourist traveling on the wrong side of the road ran into the truck and struck Melvin Krull, who was standing near it. Mr. Krull's leg was badly bruised.

Erwin Heller, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Heller, Brothertown, was instantly killed about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon when he was thrown from a car which was being driven by Leon Pendleton, Brothertown. He was thrown against a tree.

Heller and Pendleton, with two other Brothertown youths, Sylvester Mahby and Charles Heller, a brother of the boy who was killed, had been to Lake Winnebago swimming. Pendleton and Erwin Heller were riding in a small open car and Charles Heller and Mahby were riding in a truck. According to witnesses, the two cars were racing and one of the cars tried to pass the other on a narrow bridge about a mile east of Brothertown.

Both cars were forced into the ditch and Erwin was thrown from the car and against a tree, fracturing his skull. The other boys were hurled and cut, but none was hurt seriously. Pendleton was driving the car from which Heller was thrown.

DOCTOR SWATS GLAND SURGERY

Says Rejuvenation Theory Is Blot on Medical Science

Philadelphia.—(P)—Rejuvenation by gland transplantation was characterized by Dr. Maximilian Kern, Chicago, in addressing the annual convention of the American Institute of Homeopathy Monday as a "blot on the exploiting forces of medical science." He asserted there was no such thing as rejuvenation, except by restoration of bodily functions by proper precautions, the avoidance of infections and overindulgences, "and the return thereby to physical normalcy."

"This," he declared, "is all that he hoped for under any circumstances, despite the various reports concerning millionaires who have undergone operations for treatment for rejuvenation."

The speaker also denounced so-called patent reducing remedies and warned women who use them against permitting vanity to interfere with health.

A Kettle That Holds 5000 Gallons

When Lydia E. Pinkham first began to make her Vegetable Compound she used her largest kettle on the kitchen stove.

Today, the Vegetable Compound is made in great steel tanks, lined with glass. Each tank holds 5000 gallons. To keep pace with the demand for this famous medicine, a tankful is made every two days.

Throughout the entire process of manufacture the utmost care is taken. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is accurately made under sanitary conditions. Public inspection of the Laboratories at Lynn, Mass., is constantly invited.

COUNTY SPENDS $38,938 UNDER PENSION LAWS

Amount Spent in Year for Mothers Pension Is $34,-
245.23, Blind Aid is $4,-
592.50

Outagamie-co spent $34,245.23 to aid dependent children under the mother's pension law in 1925, and $4,592.50 during the same year to aid blind persons, according to figures compiled by the state board of control.

The state's appropriation of $300,000 annually for mothers' pensions, and $50,000 for state aid under the adult blind pension law were insufficient in each case to pay its me-third of the pensions, and state aid was therefore prorated among the counties. Wisconsin counties receive only about 2 1/2 per cent of their total mothers' pension expenditures, and approximately 2 1/2 per cent of the amount spent in blind aid.

Although Outagamie-co's state aid during the past year should have been $11,415.08 under the mothers' pension law, and $1,530.83 for blind aid, the actual amounts received by Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer, were $853.66 and $974.52 respectively.

Outagamie-co is fourth in the state in the number of families aided under the mothers' pension law, and is fifth in the number of blind persons aided. The four highest counties aided, in number aided and amount spent, under the mothers' pension law are: Milwaukee-co, 566 families, $164,427; Douglas-co, 217 families, $55,510; Racine-co, 218 families, $44,241; Outagamie, 173 families, $34,245.23.

The five highest counties, in number aided, under the blind pension law are: Milwaukee, 171 persons, $9,087.50; Racine, 39 persons, $12,126.50; Grant, 37 persons, $9,515.12; Outagamie, 32 persons, $4,592.50; despite the fact that they aided fewer blind persons than counties had higher expenditures in this department. They are: Dane, 23 persons, $8,311.56; Chippewa, 20 persons, $6,790; Douglas, 23 persons, $6,045; Rock, 23 persons, $5,462.50; Clark, 2 persons, $5,441.25; Wood, 18 persons, $5,298; Walworth, 14 persons, $4,950; Sauk, 17 persons, $4,589; Jackson, 17 persons, $4,740.

Forest Service Rounds Up and Disposes of Hundreds of Wild Horses

Bozeman, Mont.—(AP)—Last year the forest service initiated the plan of rounding up and disposing of all wild horses within the confines of the national forests and plans to continue to drive this year.

In 1925 there were 300 head captured in the Gallatin national forest, and it is estimated that there are 500 of these useless animals still within this forest range. Throughout the national forests of the state there are thousands more.

Some of these animals were at one time domesticated. They were turned out to forage for themselves and those of the least value were not rounded up. In time many of them became wild and the ones that survive the winters and predatory animals reared with other bands and thus are wild.

The advent of machinery has caused such a depression in values that many horse owners do not make a profit. In this case, the forest service advertises for sale and the animals are sold to the highest bidder.

Many Men Prominent In National Affairs Sport Peculiar And Unique Styles In Wearing Apparel

BY W. M. BRAUCHER

THE men have their cunning little ways. The foibles of women's fashions have been the subject for many a pungent and unparelled paragraph. Indeed, some witty men have won their reputations simply by their quaint sayings about the strange things that the ladies wear. But let's look at the men's clothes. Here are a few samples.

Perhaps the gents dress thusly so you can identify them in a railroad train without having to ask the porter. Maybe it's because when they get in front of a mirror they just can't behave. It might be traced to some queer complex that survived from the days of Tom and Jerry, but at any rate—

Not even Solomon in all his glory was arrayed as one of these.

For fashion foibles you have to hand it these distinguished gentlemen. Each of the distinguished has a distinguishing feature of dress.

There's Jimmy Walker, mayor of one of our large eastern cities. Isn't he too swell for words? Not a wrinkle out of place in that gorgeous plumage. If Atlantic City ever holds a contest for the best dressed man—it doesn't seem to care much for DRESSED folks—Jimmy would win in a canter.

And Mr. Hughes! How like a privet hedge he looks! If you've forgotten about him, he's the man who was elected president in 1916, by the graces of the zealous press. For real class in whiskers, any hatters' convention would vote him a laurel wreath.

In the next booth, we have Tom Heflin, the senator from Alabama. See that glistening white vest! It is now one of the landmarks of Washington that the capitol guides never fail to point out.

Frank Morrison is in a hurry every morning when he gets up. Maybe that's why the secretary of the American Federation of Labor-ways seems to get his collar on backwards. Or maybe he does it purposely, so he can get across the streets in a traffic jam, or something. For years Frank has preferred this ecclesiastical collar, which looks as if it's backwards, but isn't.

3 col. layout 30 point letter with cut.

Hal Here's the Adam's Apple problem solved forever. This is Gen. Dawes, our vice president, wearing the collar that ends for good man's ancient fear of choking to death. See, the nice little gap in Gen. Dawes' collar, that lets the Adam's Ben Davis roam untrammelled!

Clarence Darrow is one who likes the feel of a good, stout gallus upon his shoulder. Such a handy thumb-rack. And, besides, my dear, the fireman are all wearing them this season.

Next in line is a little Chicago delicacy, looking for all the world like a stuffed tomato saute, but in reality George Brennan, wet young man from the west. Mr. Brennan is Democratic, is out for the Senate and this picture is one of his very most Democratic ones. George doesn't wear this outfit very often and only carries a cane when a long distance from the village of Chicago.

Down in the very center is Senator William E. Borah, with a quart hat he picked up down in Great Falls one day 18 years ago. Possibly he desires to inform the League of Nations he is from the woolly west that isn't as wild as it used to be.

A FAMOUS SKULL CAP

Fellow, Clemenceau, the tiger. He is not the proprietor of the dry goods store at Hibbs' Corners any more, but despite his famous skull cap, which he always wears, is one of the best priors that France ever had. Which is covering a large basketful of territory.

Last in the hearts of his countrymen, who nominated a gentleman named Davis at the most recent Democratic convention, is William G. McAdoo. He swears by the Koran, does Cowboy Will, that he'll wear that double-breasted, suit until the Democrats come to his senses. And they convene again in 1928.

HATCH DEADLY SNAKES
Washington—Ten For de Lance snakes—the most venomous South American species—were hatched recently by the Smithsonian Institution. A quantity of small chameleons (lizards) were brought from Central America to feed the youngsters.

BULLETIN URGES PREVENTION OF FIRE IN SCHOOLS

State Publication Suggests Ways for Eliminating and Remedying Hazards

The importance of fire and life safety in school buildings is emphasized in a bulletin sent by the Industrial Commission of Wisconsin to school boards of the state, a copy of which has been received here. The bulletin is headed: "Are Your Children Safe?" and in it the commission states that it hopes to impress not only the boards with the importance of safety but also people who provide the means to build schools.

"Summer vacation is close at hand when changes and repairs in old school buildings can best be made to render them more safe," the bulletin states. "A close and careful inspection will in most cases reveal needs for such changes.

"If savings must be effected on new school buildings, let it be on trimmings and flammable work rather than on safety items.

"An outside heating plant, electric wiring in conduit, a semi-fire proof ceiling over the basement, semi-fire proof walls and partitions around halls and stairways, an incombustible roof covering, and plenty of exits are the main items of safety to be considered.

"Manual training has introduced a distinct fire hazard into our schools and many school fires start in manual training rooms. Sawdust, shavings, oily waste, paints, glue pot, gasoline engines, sparking electric motors, experimenting and tampering with the electrical installation are some of the hazards found in manual training rooms. A separate building of fire resisting construction or a room with at least semi-fireproof ceilings and walls should be provided for this work, and the entire department should be thoroughly cleaned up each day.

"In domestic science rooms where gas is used, there must be rigid iron pipe connections to each stove or plate instead of the flexible tube connections."

Ben J. Lohan, superintendent of schools, says Appleton schools are doing everything in their power to prevent fire calamities. He said schools here have plenty of exits and the students are drilled so they can empty the buildings in 90 seconds. The drills are given often enough in good weather so that in case of a long bad spell it is not necessary to practice them. Each school has small fire extinguishers for emergency use.

The Warwick Dining Suite
A New Berkey & Gay Creation

SIMPLY to reproduce facsimiles of the furniture of other days would prove an easy task for Berkey & Gay designers, but not the popular one. Their fame rests, rather, on their ability to reproduce these classic styles in terms of the present day, selecting their best elements and creating new masterpieces in the spirit of the old.

Were this not true, this exceptional dining room suite, The Warwick, could never have been created, for it is Jacobean in style and the original furniture of that far-off time was so massive, stiff and undesirable that it would not be tolerated today and the modern room could not hold it.

As softened, lightened and refined by Berkey & Gay designers, it is a beautiful and impressive example of advanced cabinet work.

Constructed of walnut combined with butt walnut in skillfully hand matched figuring. The panels on the doors are embellished with a scroll pierced onlay of imported rosewood.

Suite consisting of Sideboard, Extension Table, Arm Chair and five Side Chairs

GUESTS BEGIN TO ARRIVE IN CITY FOR HOMECOMING

Preparations Are Completed for Three Day Celebration by St. Mary Church

Kaukauna—Many out-of-town people already have arrived for St. Mary church homecoming celebration on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, July 3, 4 and 5. A great many more will arrive before the end of the week. As many as 3,000 guests are expected to be in the city.

A feature of the celebration will be the religious services on Sunday and Monday at which former pastors and Kaukauna boys who are ordained to the priesthood will play prominent parts. A memorial service will be held on Monday at the St. Mary cemetery. Almost all the surviving ex-communicants of the church will be in Kaukauna for the three days. A souvenir program will be given to former and present members of the congregation. This will contain a history of the church and of the pastors who served it.

Saturday will be registration day and the whole time will be devoted to securing accommodations for the out-of-town guests. The homecoming will be formally opened Sunday morning with services in St. Mary church. A parade will be staged on Monday with many business firms and organizations taking part.

A picnic will be held in Kline's park Monday afternoon and there will be fireworks in the evening. A dance will be given at the auditorium.

WEYAUWEGA MAN SHOOTS SELF AT HIS FARM HOME

Leaves Note Declaring Neighbor's Testimony Against Him Is False

Apparently worried by a series of difficulties which beset him, Otto Mauritz, 63, a farmer, shot himself through the head at his home about three miles from Weyauwega Sunday morning. His body was found under a tree on his lawn by a son of a neighbor. Mauritz is survived by three sons and one daughter, none at home. He was a widower.

Mauritz left a note in which he said that the evidence which his neighbors had been giving against him were untrue but he made no explicit reference to the difficulties in which he was involved.

A state fire marshal had been in Weyauwega since early last week investigating a fire which destroyed the Mauritz home on Sunday, June 20, and also the fire which burned his barn about a year ago. The fire marshal had talked to a number of neighbors concerning the fires, it was learned. No suspicion was attached to Mauritz after the fire in his barn but an investigation was started when his house was damaged.

Recently a warrant was served on Mauritz on the complaint of a neighbor, Paul Dotke, who alleged Mauritz had threatened him. Mauritz had not been brought to trial on the charge.

JACKSON WOULD NOT BE BURIED IN ROYAL CASKET

Former President Had Chance to Be Buried in Coffin Meant for Roman Emperor

New York—(P)—Andrew Jackson's letter declining to accept the sarcophagus of the Roman Emperor, Alexander Severus for his depository is believed by students of Americana to be one of the finest communications he wrote.

The letter was in the collection of the late William Green Shillaber, of Boston, which recently was sold by the American Art Galleries. Numerous other documents relating to Jackson's life as soldier, president and private citizens were auctioned at the same time.

Shortly before his death, the former president was tendered the marble coffin by Commodore Elliott, famous in the War of 1812, on behalf of the National Institute. Elliott had just returned from Palestine on the Constitution, which now is being rebuilt for preservation.

"I pray you, General," he wrote, "to live on in the fear of the Lord, dying the death of a Roman soldier, an emperor's coffin awaits you."

Although seriously ill, Jackson replied, in part:

"With all the sensations that can inspire a grateful heart, I must decline accepting the honour, intended to be bestowed. I cannot consent that my mortal body shall be laid in a depository prepared for an Emperor a King—My republican feelings and principles forbid it—the simplicity of our system of government forbids it. STAGE AND SCREEN

CHANEY'S ACTING SUPERB
Grim tragedy, gaunt realism, breathless suspense, and one of the most beautiful love stories ever told on the screen combine to make a dramatic masterpiece of "The Road to Mandalay." Lon Chaney's latest starring vehicle, playing at the Elite Theatre starting today. It is through the grim realism of the vivid mystery drama of the Orient that the love story, perhaps, is so forcible. It holds the audience fairly spellbound, and thus takes its place as one of the best bits of screen entertainment in a long time.

Chaney plays a weird character; a sea captain degenerated into a sinister, light-scarred ruler of an Oriental underworld, hiding in a strange dive on the Singapore waterfront, and secretly adopting an orphaned daughter who never learns her parentage; a pathetic bit of realism injected into the colorful mystery.

It is a story that lays bare human hearts, and Chaney rises to some magnificent heights of acting as the father torn between almost heavenly love and almost satanic environment. He wears one of the most gruesome disguises in his history, but gains sympathy through it—a strange trick of the dramatist and the actor's own part.

FILM VERSION OF SIBERIA IS SUPER-DRAMA

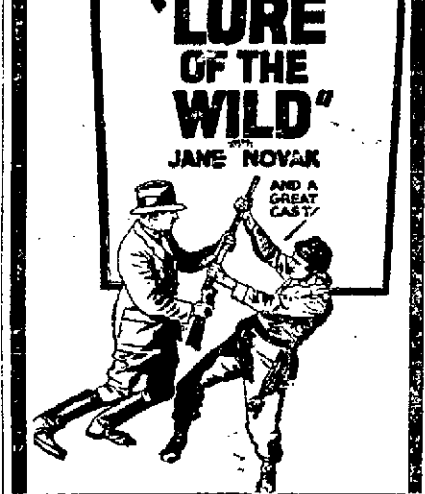

As a stage play, "Siberia" was a dramatic sensation about twenty-five years ago. Millions have seen it and have been thrilled by it. Now Fox Films has adapted it to the screen. And because of the wider scope of the camera, it is even more dramatic and thrilling than when it was presented on the speaking stage.

sent on the speaking stage. "Siberia" opens a four day run at the New Bijou Theatre today and it is one of the most gripping photo-dramas ever screened. It pictures conditions in Russia in the heyday of Czar Nicholas, when the firing squad or exile to the salt mines was the penalty for free speech.

The story, as many old-timers will recall, has to do with the beautiful daughter of Andrei Vronsky, a tyrannical overlord, who is not in sympathy with her father's cruelty to the serfs under his control. Alma Rubens plays Sonia, the champion of the downtrodden, and when she sees one of the servants give food to the dogs which he has just refused to a starving woman and her child, she protests to her father and warns him that he and his kind are treading dangerous ways. Sonia's brother, Kyrill, a young physician, shares her views and sides with her against their father. Sonia confides to him that she is a pupil of Tolstoi in Moscow and they pledge themselves to aid the cause of education and the people.

The production—one of the most pretentious of the Fox organization—boasts some of the best talent in America.

An all-star cast includes Alma Rubens, Edmund Lowe, Lilyan Tashman, Paul Panzer, Helena d'Algy, Tom Santschi, Lou Tellegen, Vadim Uraneff, Daniel Makarenka, James Marcus, Samuel Blum, Harry Gripp and many others.

PROHIBITION IN URGENT NEED OF PUBLIC SUPPORT

Church People Must Rouse
Themselves. Peabody
Says in Address

Church people of America must rouse themselves for a new battle in the cause of temperance if prohibition is to be made as effective as it should be, Dr. H. E. Peabody, pastor of First Congregational church, declared in an address to Appleton people prepared at the request of Appleton Ministerial association.

"We have taken this action," Dr. Peabody said, "in the conviction that the Christian conscience is the best support of the prohibition law, and of all law, in a Christian nation. And we believe that a revival of public sentiment in support of the Eighteenth amendment is urgently needed at this time."

"The war against alcoholism is a long one. We have won the most critical victory, the Gettysburg, of this war—yet we are still in the midst of the war. It is no time to relax our efforts nor to demobilize our forces. And yet our citizens, our Christian citizens, have been thrown temporarily into bewilderment and hesitation by a new, energetic campaign of the enemy. After our great victory we have relaxed into a false feeling of security, thinking that the war was won. Having established prohibition in the basic law of the land, the temperance people and the church people have been overcome with the 'sleeping-sickness' on this field of our citizenship. We have defaulted our duties of providing a public sentiment in support of the law. We are ourselves to blame for our confusion while the enemy attacks."

"Let us recognize anew that law observance is a greater thing than law enforcement, and that public sentiment is a stronger defence than courts and police."

"First as to our own personal observance of our prohibition law. This law is clearly intended to abolish the use of intoxicating liquors. Is it a good law? There is just now great confusion of tongues about this. 'The recent senate committee inquiry at Washington has increased the confusion. It gave much evidence of the fact that people generally see what they want to see, believe what they want to believe and testify accordingly.'

"Let me give you testimony from the witnesses there of unusual honesty and opportunity of observation. Coach Stagg of the University of Chicago has had four years of remarkable opportunity there for observing conditions in a college community, which Appleton with its college some what resembles. I appeal to you to note if our observations in Appleton before and after prohibition do not in the main parallel his."

"God only knows," said he before the senate committee, 'what conditions would be, with the enlarged freedom which young people now have, if prohibition were not in existence. It is my conviction that prohibition has been the greatest sort of blessing during this unstable period while our youth are learning how to use this new freedom. It is this breaking down of the home and this new irresponsibility on the part of the parents toward their children which creates the problem of today, and not the Volstead Act. This law has not been given a fair chance. There ought now to be an honest and conscientious effort made to enforce the law.'

"Consider also this testimony from another truth-teller who knows, Evangeline Booth. 'Why,' she asks, 'why try to tell the Salvation Army that the park benches are crowded with drunken men as they were before prohibition? They are gone. The benches still remain, but the occupants are climbing upward to better things. Why try to tell us that working men spend their wages before their families can get the money for food, and that men beat their wives and children as in the old days. It simply is not the case.'"

"We are appealing to the people who believe that the Prohibition Law is a good law, and especially to the church people. The first thing for us to do is loyally to observe the law ourselves, before we talk about enforcing it. Our country is really governed by respect for law vastly more than by the policeman's club. And we Christians have a principle of loving and helping our neighbor, that underlies even respect for law."

"The surest foundation for the permanent establishment of this good law is that every Christian be first of all a total abstainer and that he champion the principle of total abstinence. Example is better than precept. Let no one do it apologetically."

"We must renew the long campaign of education from the ground up, which produced the temperance voters of a decade and a generation ago. Let us resume the teaching of total abstinence and the reasons for it in our Sunday Schools and in our public schools. Let us put the law to work for us and broadcast both the moral and economic reasons for total abstinence. In a word we must put law observance before law enforcement."

"But law enforcement also is absolutely necessary. Yet here again we have been putting the cart before the horse. Public sentiment is mightier than courts and police, when it comes to enforcing any law. We the people, the Christian people of the community, have been advocating our duty of openly supporting this law and its enforcement. We have been saying, 'Let the other fellow do it, I'm busy.' We have said, 'Let the courts, the police and the Anti-Saloon League do it, it is not my job.' Now, we need the courts and the police and the Anti-Saloon League, all three—and they are in honor bound to take the lead in enforcing the law, but their hands are feeble without a courageous, sustaining public opinion."

"One or two of the ministers recently consulted all the leading officials of our courts and city government who are charged with the duty of enforcing the law. The officials differed widely in their estimates of the amount of lawbreaking and as to the trend of public sentiment for or against the Volstead Act but all agreed that public sentiment in support of the law has been apathetic and timid. Even neighbors who are annoyed by bootlegging and manufacturing will not complain for fear of neighborhood trouble. There is very little bold, public spirited support of the law or of the law enforcers."

"As to these facts there is too much reason to believe that our officials speak the truth. We weaken their hands by our apathy. We leave them in doubt as to what the citizens really want them to do. We may, time and again, have the right to complain that they are not doing their sworn duty, but it is certain that we temperance people, we Christian citizens, have been failing miserably in our duty to this law."

"If we say that we do not know what to do to improve matters, the reply comes back that months pass and we do not better ourselves to find out what to do. Our doubt seems to be between enforcing the law and modifying it by State legislation so as to permit the use of beer and wine. There are two reasons against this latter alternative. First, it is unconstitutional, and second, it would be unenforceable—far more so than the present law."

"Many of us are letting ourselves be deluded by the claim that each state can decide by referendum how far it will obey the Eighteenth Amendment. Senator Borah in a recent speech has made clear how impossible such a claim is. He said in effect, that if such a referendum has any meaning at all, it is that every state shall determine for itself, its own construction of the Constitution of the United States, and that construction is to bind the federal government. That doctrine was shot to death at the battle of Gettysburg. If this scheme could be put into effect, forty-eight states would construe the federal constitution, and the federal government would have to accept the forty-eight constructions. We might have forty-eight different standards of intoxicating liquor. Each state would have a right to ship its brand of liquors into every other state. This is constitutional anarchy."

"And second, even if such referendums were constitutional, how can we doubt that the introduction of light wine and beer would make the detection of the sale of strong beer and strong liquors infinitely harder?"

"Among many others Chief Justice Taft has expressed this conviction. 'I believe,' said he, 'that the sale of light wines and beers would defeat the purpose of the amendment. No such distinction between light and strong liquors is practicable as a police measure.'

"If then, the Chief Justice of the only court that has the final right to construe the Constitution, is opposed to this kind of modification, our only course, certainly for years to come, is to enforce the law as it stands."

"The law can and will be enforced when we members of the church of God in America rouse ourselves from our self-indulgence and our shameful apathy in this matter. Then the Christian conscience will be leading as it ought to lead in every land that presumes to call itself a Christian nation."

"And as we come now to our national Independence Day and talk earnestly of patriotism, nothing could be more fitting than for us, standing before God and the flag, to confess our sins and swear that, under God his church shall have a new birth of really Christian patriotism."

SMITH DEFINES GOD IN LECTURE TO BIBLE CLASS

Lessons of Genesis Help
Solve Modern Problems,
Students Told

"God is a living, kindly, personal Being, who creates, guides and controls the universe and human life," W. E. Smith said in an address to the Adult Summer Bible class of First Methodist church at the weekly meeting Sunday morning in the social union room of the church.

"God is not a blind force, nor is the heavenly rule under the dominion of Gods who are forever quarrelling among themselves and showing a hatred and animosity, according to Genesis," said Mr. Smith.

In early days, according to Mr. Smith, scholars composed the writings of other nations with the Bible and if they were found to be similar, they declared the Bible a myth. The creation story and the flood story prove this as the history of practically every tribe contains these two stories.

"Man is dignified as a child of God, according to Genesis," Mr. Smith said. "He has a soul and there are within him vital powers which enable him by God's help to rise above the animal and to overcome sin. Man is given the power to rule and the animal and vegetable kingdoms have been created for him, and are subject to his power."

"Man is to control the world and use it for his development and light. He is free but is morally responsible to God," Mr. Smith said. "He is a trustee and must return recognition of his trusteeship by gifts and offerings and doing good."

Mr. Smith compared the teachings of Confucianism, Buddhism, Mohammedanism and Brahminism and showed where they differed from the teachings of the Bible. He showed how in all of these non-scriptural accounts of the dealings between the Gods and man appear stories where men have bribed the Gods for blessings, and then told that these stories did not appear in Genesis.

"The God of Genesis stands out alone as the only moral God, whom man can respect because of his fair dealings and willingness to help man to higher levels of civilization," Mr. Smith said.

"From Genesis we get the great message that hate and sin and war bring disaster to nations and individuals," Mr. Smith said. He illustrated this by relating the stories of Cain and Abel and Joseph and his brothers.

"The great weakness of our teachings," said Mr. Smith, "is that we give out the lessons in story and do not connect the story with life. Every message from Genesis should bring with it, if interpreted correctly, a spirit of uplift and strength that will help us to meet the problems of our every day life in this twentieth century."

Discussion of home mission work by the northern Wisconsin district of the Wisconsin Lutheran synod was continued in the Saturday morning session of the district convention at St. Paul church here. The report on mission work was given by the Rev. Paul Oehlert, Kaukauna, chairman of the home mission board. FIRST RACE OF SEASON IN FACE OF STRONG WIND

Neenah Boats Show Up Well in Initial Contest of Yachting Year

Neenah — Shadow, owned by James Kimberly, won first place in the first of three yacht races Saturday afternoon over the Neenah course on Lake Winnebago. Raywire, the new boat owned by the Buckstaff, Athearn and VanDyke interests, of Oshkosh, sailing in its first race, took second place followed by Onaway IV owned by E. S. Shattuck and Faith, a Buckstaff boat.

The lake was calm, but a strong unsteady wind prevailed. The course was triangular. The start was a fair one with Shadow in the lead, Raywire second, Onaway third and Faith fourth, finishing in the same order as the start.

The second race was sailed over the same course with Faith crossing the finishing line first, Shadow, second; Raywire, third, and Onaway fourth. Raywire took the lead at the start with Onaway second, Shadow third, and Faith fourth. The Faith lost her spinnaker pole at the start but recovered it. The Shadow overtook the first two boats on the first leg and continued in the lead around the southeast buoy. On the last leg the Shadow and Raywire battled the north course with the other boats sailing close into the point. The Shadow held her lead over the Raywire but both boats failed to take note of the other two which were sailing on a steady wind which carried the Faith across the line first.

The third race brought the Raywire into first place at the finish followed by Faith, Onaway and Shadow. This race was leeward and return around the southeast buoy. It was a close race with Shadow in the lead with Onaway close behind, Raywire third and Faith fourth. The Raywire and Onaway sailed the north tack in, while Shadow took to the middle course and Faith close into Lime Kiln point. Increasing winds during the last race made the contest more interesting and exciting.

A similar series of races will be held next Saturday afternoon over the Oshkosh course.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JOHN and FAY MILBURN buy a home of their own shortly after their baby girl is born and the advertising agency in which John is partner and copy writer lands a new contract.

The previous chapters told how John, a romantic individual, was fascinated on meeting NELL ORME, of whom PAT FORBES, a friend of John's, hints that she is having trouble with her husband.

NOEL and VERA BOYD, a young married couple, give a party and Vera shows an interest in John which he does not return, but which arouses Fay's jealousy. Noel Boyd later boasts of an arrangement with Vera whereby each leaves the other to do as he pleases.

Fay takes the baby to (NAME DISTANT CITY) to visit her parents, and during her absence John runs around a good deal with Pat Forbes, whose wild tendencies have caused some trouble between him and his wife MARIAN.

An old friend of John's, DOROTHY FRANCIS, now a musical comedy star, comes to town, and the two cat together on several occasions. Although Dorothy's chief interest in John is the advice he can give her in regard to theatrical publicity, he has a hard time convincing several people who see them together that it is not an affair.

NATHANIEL GRAHAM, his partner, takes him to task and accuses him of "running around" and thus endangering the firm's reputation. DIV GO ON WITH THE STORY (The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

CHAPTER XXXIX
"Hold on, Nat," said John, raising his voice. "If I'm looking at you, you mean Miss Francis. Then you're talking about a girl who is a great artist, who is ambitious to make great success and who used to be a friend of mine when I was in college. Don't know what you mean by 'running around,' but you might be interested to know that I've done nothing that I'd be ashamed to tell my wife. If I could see me eating lunch with an actress and then immediately proceed to cook up a scandal out of it, I can't help it. And I don't oppose to let my actions be regulated by the interpretations your idealized friends put on them."

John was angry, and he fixed Graham with a cold stare. The other, speaking fixedly at the pencil he had in his hand, said: "Just the same, that you're doing isn't helping you, and it isn't helping the firm either. I'll be glad when your life gets home."

John started to make a heated reply, but Nat's words about his wife amused him and he laughed. "Nat," he said, "I wonder if you realize how much like an old woman I've been acting. Good Lord! I'm glad to see you come home."

"I happen to know," Nat went on, "that your advertising agency is coming town very shortly and they're going out after some of our business—especially our local stuff and our merchandising service clients."

"How did you know that?" John asked quickly. "I found out over at the Chamber of Commerce. I joined the Chamber at long ago, and a friend of mine told me that these people have been waiting for all kinds of information about the town and the business here."

"What's the name of this new outfit, Nat?" "Kelly and Jones. I don't know anything else about them. But what I've been telling you is right in line with it all. Unless we mind our P's and Q's pretty well, this new outfit is going to be trading on our toes."

"If we lose any business," John said stubbornly, "it won't be because of what I do after office hours but what you and I do during office hours. You put that in your pipe and smoke it, Nat," and he walked out of the room.

That afternoon Briggs informed John that a new artist was coming to work next morning.

"Graham," he told him Saturday, "Briggs explained, 'Pretty good man, so I've known him some time.' John went out, feeling added respect against Nat Graham. It was as if Nat had decided to ignore him entirely in the conduct of the subject up the next time Nat had any business, and he decided to bring the more complaints to register."

Fay wrote daily and kept him informed as to Judith's activities. It seemed that she was walking unaided now and had acquired quite a vocabulary.

At times, reading Fay's letters, a powerful yearning would come upon him to see them both, and he felt himself pity. On such occasions he would sit at his desk and write a letter to the office, always winding up by telling all of Judith's latest antics, saying and tricks on Briggs, who listened with a patient grin.

He was surprised one afternoon to get a telephone call from Eleanor Mason whom he had almost forgotten, had been so long since he had seen her.

"Are you busy tomorrow evening?" he asked. "Now don't say you are," she broke in before he could answer. "I want you to take me to a party. I'll tell you, first, before someone else tells you, that you're filling in."

He raised an objection at first. There was his work. But under her persuasive arguments he yielded. Well, yes, he admitted finally, he thought. He would make it.

He called for his Ford coupe and felt rather ashamed of its dingy appearance. "Have to get a decent looking car," he told himself. "She was glad to see him. 'It's been perfect ago. John how have you been and what have you been doing since your wife has been away?' Being a bachelor, he told her, was of what it was cracked up to be,

ished her, "you know I'm a respectable married man."

She laughed. "Yes, but you're not working at it right now," she retorted and definitely raised her lips in an offered kiss.

Fay was in his mind—Fay and Judith—but common sense and conscience both were routed in the face of this easy temptation. He yielded, and grabbed her roughly to him.

"Wow!" she exclaimed, disengaging herself. "A regular cave man!" He laughed, and reached for her again, but she eluded him. "You play too rough," she said, and raised a warning finger.

He remained half an hour longer, then feeling a little annoyed at her sudden coquettishness, he left, despite her entreaties to stay longer.

At the door she clung to him desperately in a long embrace, and her last words to him as he pulled himself impatiently away floated down the stairs to him:

"Remember, John, you'll come back soon."

25,000 COMPLETE EXTENSION WORK

Students Urged to Work for Certificates in U. W. Extension Courses

About one third of the 25,000 students who complete correspondence courses of the University of Wisconsin each year receive extension certificates, according to a recent issue of the University Extension News Bulletin received by Chester Allen, director of university extension work in the Second district. Certificates are not given for courses carrying university credit, as these courses are applied toward the degrees conferred by the university when requirements have been fully met.

A final examination must be passed to entitle the student to a certificate, and this test must be supervised by a competent person, usually a school officer in the community where the student resides. This precaution gives the certificate a higher value because it means a definite achievement. Some students are interested chiefly in the content of their courses and do not take the final examinations which would entitle them to certificates. The extension division, however, always encourages a student, when he has done creditable work in his course, to qualify for a certificate.

NIGHT LETTER FROM PAULA PERIER TO KARL WHITNEY

My dear Mr. Whitney,
I wonder if you will think that I am giving up before the battle is over if I ask you to excuse me from a personal appearance at the Orthopedic Hospital Bazaar tomorrow. I might as well tell you that talking to strangers twice a day for the last week has been the hardest work I have ever done and as you know we take that most particular sequence in "Hot Steel" on Monday morning. I feel I owe it to myself to rest today and Sunday, seeing no one, not even my best and closest friend, Sally Atherton.

However, I want to express to you, Mr. Whitney, that I will not mind the fatigue in any way if I have contributed to the cause of crippled children in any way.

The saddest thing in my life has been that my work has blotted romantic love from my heart and consequently a child was not for me.

Will you let me send you my check for ten thousand dollars? And, because I do not think my appearance on Saturday afternoon at the auditorium would be worth that much to you, I am congratulating myself that the hospital is making money by my staying away.

Again I want to thank you for allowing me to be some help to you in your great philanthropy, and believe me I am always ready to help in any way I can.

Sincerely yours,
PAULA PERIER.

Telephone Conversation Between Leslie Prescott and Karl Whitney
"Is that you, Karl?"
"Yes, Leslie, what's the matter?"
"Nothing particularly. What made you think so?"
"Your voice sounds so strange."
"I just called you up, Karl dear, to ask you if you will excuse me from coming to the bazaar on Saturday. Little Jack is not feeling well and he wants his 'mover' all the time. I've neglected him a good deal of late and after this excitement which seems to hang around the picture which is to be taken at the mill on Monday is over, I think I shall hide myself away from everyone for a while."
"Of course, dear Leslie, don't come over. I think I shall hide myself going to lose all my stars, you know. Miss Perier just sent me a night letter asking me to excuse her also."
"I don't blame her, Karl. She was looking very pale the last time I saw her. Paula Perier has all my sympathies, for she works hard and leads a very lonely life. I'm going straight to bed now, Karl, and I shall spend tomorrow and Sunday in the nursery with the children. Good-bye and thank you."

Adventures Of The Twins

THE TWINS START FOR MISTY HILL

This was the letter that the mail-box handed to the Twins in Nip-and-Tuck Town. It said:
"Dear Twins, I am sorry that you are having such a hard time finding Inco and Flops on the moon. But I am sure they are in Drowsy Land somewhere. If you find them in Nip-and-Tuck Town, just ask your pink tickets to take you to the Dream-Maker Man. He lives in a castle with seven pointed arrows on Misty Hill."
"Lovingly yours
"The Fairy Queen."
"The Dream-Maker Man," cried Nick. "We never thought of him, did we, Nancy? He's a good one to go to. Come on—let's start."
"Where to? Where to?" asked the two pink tickets when they heard this. "Where are you starting for?" We have to know if we are to turn ourselves into tracks again so we shall be sure to go in the right direction.

"To Misty Hill," said Nancy. "To the Dream-Maker's house."
The pink tickets were trying to decide which one of them should be the track this time, when along came a sandwich plate and a large picnic coffee pot.

"May I pour you a cup of coffee?" said the coffee pot, hospitably. "You have ten minutes stop-over for lunch."
"Thank you," said Nick, "but we aren't allowed to have coffee."
"Well—I like that," said the coffee pot in an offended voice. "I suppose you'll be saying that you don't eat sandwiches either."

"Do they have mustard on?" asked Nancy timidly.
"Of course," said the sandwich plate. "Mustard and horse-radish and Worcestershire Sauce."
"I guess we won't have any, thank you," said Nancy.

"Upity! that's what they are! Upity!" snorted the sandwich plate. "And me priding myself on my seasoning."
The coffee pot and the sandwich plate look hands and walked away.

"Now we'd better be going," said Nick. "Come on, tickets, we're ready."
"Won't you take something to read with you?" said a new voice. And there stood two magazines, a red one and a blue one with pictures on the back.

"We'd like to, thank you," said Nancy. "Do you have nice, easy words that we can understand?"
"Nothing shorter than 'conglomeration' and words like that," said the magazines. "That's the kind of reading that puts you to sleep when you travel."

"I guess maybe we don't want to read, thank you," said Nancy. "But perhaps you could tell us if you have seen a china elephant and a clown anywhere. We are looking for them."

"But the magazines had walked off in a huff. They hadn't heard the last part of Nancy's speech."
"We certainly had better be starting," said Nick. "This place is well named. Nip to get in and tuck to get out. Every time we start someone comes along and stops us. Quick, here comes somebody else."
The pink ticket in Nick's pocket jumped out and instantly became a track again. And there was the little car, too.

The Twins got in and started for Misty Hill.

Oshkosh again! In baseball some teams always seem to have the "jinx" sign on them, causing them, though they may be the best in the league and the jinx team the worst, to play poor enough ball to lose the game. The Oshkosh squad of the Fox River Valley league seems to be the jinx of the Appleton team this year, for after playing two of the best games in the league to date, they lost to the Oshkosh team by a score of 9-5. The Oshkosh team played about the same brand of ball at Oshkosh Sunday which they have a few weeks ago, with the result that the Noelmen finished on the long end of a 9-5 score. It seemed as if the local squad had got all the bad errors out of its system at the last Oshkosh game and had settled down to play ball, but the effect of seeing Noel's squad seemed to unsettle them for good play was scarce.

Sternagel started the game for Appleton and allowed three hits in three frames, but added four walks, two coming on the first two batters in the fourth frame. Then he was yanked for Edna Cove, who sailed the rest of the way with only four safeties off his delivery though two were for extra bases. However, Appleton made seven errors, of which about five were costly and seemed unable to get used to the Oshkosh ball on which a ball does not take the usual bound. Three Oshkosh men scored runs without getting a hit, and another three got to second base. Appleton hit Gettens' speeder hard, though many hard liners would be safe drives found leading in fielder's hand. Gettens was hit for eight blows and had excellent support. Appleton scored 5 times on 3 hits and Oshkosh 9 on 1.

C. T. Cornish uncorked a big homer for Appleton, while Manager Baetz hit safety three times in four hits, one that going for a double. However, he was slow on the sacks, once being run down between second and third and again being caught at third for part of a double play on an infield out. Bent hit once in one hit. In the field, Radtke dropped a perfect peg to first, while playing his first game on short notice, when Gotha injured his arm Saturday, looked good at short in spite of two errors on hard tries.

Hackbarth hit safely three times for the Sawdusters, but looked only fair in the field. Webb got two doubles and Bixby a triple. Oshkosh had one big inning, the fourth, when 4 runs came off a single. Oshkosh opened the scoring in the third. Gettens started the frame with a hit over second. Novotny walked and Morris fled out to Courtney. Both men advanced a base on a passed ball, and then Gettens scored and Novotny took third on a fielder's choice. Schultz getting Bixby at first. Hackbarth singled to left and Novotny scored. Feller ended the frame by getting Bixby to Schultz. Appleton opened up in her half of the fourth and took the lead for the only time during the game with three runs on two hits.

Ashman got a life when the Sawdust shortstop dropped his hard drive and Cave Radtke scored a "home run" on an error, scoring Red ahead of him. Cave shot an extra long drive to left field and was almost to second when the fielder got under it and then dropped it. He was home when the relayed peg reached the catcher. Schultz fanned and Priebe hit a single to center, springing all the way to third on Baetz's hit to center. Baetz attempted to puffer second and when Hackbarth dropped a peg, Priebe, who had started home, was safe with

SAINTS BEAT BREWS AGAIN; TIED FOR 2ND

St. Paul—The smiling Saints hung the post of Silent Joe Eddleman, the Silver Fox, in their capacious trophy room here Sunday afternoon when they routed the league's leading south paw, ending with a 13 to 5 decision. The score indicates the character of the game and the boys were forced to protect themselves at all times. The reversal knocked the Brewers into a tie for second place.

Baetz was caught between second and third and run down on a fielder's choice. Courtney taking first and then stealing second. Tarnow walked and Hiltman went out second to first. In the fourth the ballmen went up, Sternagel starting the works by issuing two walks to Webb and Pochotka. Crowe took his place and the next inning, Webb, stepped into the ball and in spite of the Appleton crowd's protest, Umpire Lepine waved him to first. With the bases loaded and none down, Gettens hit to Schultz, who fumbled the ball in his eagerness to peg home, all hands being safe, with Webb scoring. Novotny sacrificed, Pochotka scoring and Webb taking third. Gettens being first, Webb Bixby shot a hot triple to left scoring Tarnow to end the "pact". Oshkosh scored again in the fifth on Webb and Gettens. Hackbarth fled to Webb's double, a fielder's choice which sent him to third and Courtney's error on Webb's drive.

In the sixth Appleton's score was raised to 7-5 and another chance for a win when Baetz singled, went out at second on a fielder's choice on which Courtney made first, and then Cliff and C. T. Cornish scored on St. Paul's error over the bleachers in center field. Appleton had a few more chances to score but had brains halted them all. Oshkosh completed its scoring in the seventh when Hackbarth singled over second and went out at second on a fielder's choice. Feller going to first. Webb doubled, then Feller taking third, Feller went out at the plate on a fielder's choice. Crowe to Ashman. Webb going to third and Pochotka getting the life. On a delayed double steal, Webb came home and when Radtke dropped a perfect peg to first on Webb's hit, Pochotka scored. Then Gettens fanned.

SCIOTO'S 1ST 9 HOLES EXPECTED TO BOTHER STAR

Second, Third, Sixth and Eighth Are Troublemakers, Club Professional Says

When Frank Walsh, local pro golf star, makes Archie Compston, crack British pro, in his first-round match in the National Open golf tournament at Scioto club house, Columbus, Ohio, he will either win or lose his match on the first nine holes of the course, according to experts. For golfers familiar with the course are willing to wager that these holes, especially numbers 2, 3, 4 and 5 will go a long way toward deciding the eventual winner. In the opinion of George George Sargent, pro of the Scioto club, these nine holes are the most difficult of all. This quarter may come or break more than one player who has hopes for the title, he said. The first two are par 4 and the last two par 5.

A long-backed fairway, one of the most exciting holes on the course, features Hole No. 3. Of a necessity, therefore, the tee shot must be absolutely firm and accurate and must carry down immediately into severe and disappointing rough. No. 5 known may be said to be a double trouble. It consists of a putting green on the "platform" type. The player must approach it from the left hand side of the fairway, and if he slips his tee shot was into him, for he has to approach the green at such an angle as to make it extremely hard to enter the green. The hole is 350 yards long.

"Savage in aspect," in the way Sargent describes the one shot from No. 4, one of the two 550-yard holes on the course. This shot calls for a 175-yard carry. The fairway lies to the left with a bend guarded by trees. A player must accomplish two fine wooden club shots to beat par 5 for this hole. Failing in this, he will again find himself in heavy rough and trouble, and will have to chop his way out.

One of the best holes on the course is No. 8. Just 450 yards in length, the hole calls for a good long tee shot to get on the green in two. The green and the clubhouse on the right and left and has water hazards in front and rear.

KINSEY IN SEMIS IN BIG NET MEET

BASEBALL'S "4 HORSEMEN" AID BREWER WIN MARK

Football had its "four horsemen" a few seasons ago in that famous Notre Dame backfield composed of Miller, Layden, Crowley and Stuhldreher. They were the sensations of the gridiron world.

Well, here are the "four horsemen" of baseball, Dave Danforth, Ossie Orwoll, Joe Eddleman and Dennis Gearin. They are members of the Milwaukee club of the American Association. And each is a south paw!

During the recent remarkable winning streak of the Brewers, which reached 21 games (a new record for the circuit), this quartet of hurlers turned in 17 triumphs. Eddleman led with six, followed by Danforth and Gearin with four apiece and Orwoll with three. Eddleman also saved a hit for Roy Sanders big right hand, while Danforth finished two for Gearin. Orwoll relieved Gearin in one fray and Gearin did the same for Orwoll.

Milwaukee obtained Eddleman from Flint in the Michigan-Ontario League a couple of seasons ago. "Dandy Dave" Danforth is well known throughout the majors, having played with the White Sox and Browns. Orwoll came to the Brewers direct from Luther College, Decorah, Ia., while Gearin was given a trial with the Giants three years ago.

The Brewers' great record, which started May 26 and ended June 16 when the Toledo Mudhens tripped them, carried the club from a lowly seventh to first place. And, as mentioned, the "four horsemen" played big parts in the climb up the Double-A pennant ladder.

Ken Dickinson Favored To Bother Champion Bock In Northeastern Golf Tourney

Appleton Man, State Titleist, Strong Challenger in Meet at Butte des Morts

Ken Dickinson of Appleton, state amateur champion, is one of five Badger amateurs picked by golf experts to give Adolph "Buster" Beck, Sheboygan, northeastern Wisconsin champion, a hard run for the 1926 northeastern Wisconsin title in the N. E. W. G. A. tourney at the Butte des Morts links here July 21, 22, 23 and 24. Beck, who will defend his title here, is picked as a favorite to repeat. His closest competitors are said to be T. Gould, Oshkosh star who went into the finals with Beck last year; W. F. Kerwin, Green Bay sharpshot; A. P. Wittenberg, Green Bay; Bobby Gittins, DePere youth; and Dickinson.

Billy Sherry, crack Milwaukee amateur, who made the first hole in one on the local course, during a match in which he and Walter Hagen, played Dickinson and Frank Walsh, local pros, favors Beck saying he has beaten Dickinson in several other M. E. W. G. A. meets. He also says that though Dickinson beat a fine field to take the state title last year, the results might have been different had Beck been entered.

Beck probably holds no fear for Dickinson's golf, having met him before, in past northeastern meets, with the results much in his (Beck's) favor. White Dickinson was talling off with the state amateur laurels at the Milwaukee Country club last summer, making through the five field to attain the honor, Beck was hurling his hand in his back at the University of Wisconsin, preferring to study rather than lose a week or two preparing and playing in the tournament. Had he participated the turn of events may have assumed an entirely different hue.

In acquiring the northeastern championship last year at Manitowish, Beck reached the finals in simple manner, defeating Hugh Fors and Birdie to quickly and his match. In the concluding tilt Adolph routed T. Gould of the Oshkosh Country club, 5 up and 1 to play. Gould's golf, still in the making, bears watching this season. Tom Klose, Oshkosh tutor, tells us. With only three years of experience in the sport and only a limited amount of time for practice, Gould, the former Badger football star, has made quite a success of his game. And no doubt he'll be back again to take a shot at Beck at Butte des Morts.

CHALLENGER

KEN DICKINSON

State amateur champ, expected to give "Buster" Beck, Sheboygan school boy champ of the Northeastern Wisconsin Golf Association, a hard battle for the association title this year in the meet on the Butte des Morts course here from July 21 to 24. The two are old rivals, but the Chair City lad has come out on top in most of the encounters between them. The U. W. lad is regarded as a potential state champ.

And still others with sound games, will be in the rush, representing these northeastern member clubs: Fox River, Green Bay; Riverview club, Appleton; Oshkosh Country club; Lakeside club, Manitowish; Town and Country club, Fond du Lac; Fox Lake Country club; Sheboygan Country club; Wausau Country club; Tascumbia club, Green Lake; Riverdale club, Marinette-Menominee; Bull's-eye Country club, Wisconsin Rapids; Butte des Morts club, Appleton, and Qui Qui Qu club, Elkhorst, Lake.

The final schedule for the meet as arranged by M. A. Carroll, Oshkosh golf star, who is secretary of the association, follows:

Wednesday, July 21—Team match, 18 holes, match play vs. per, five men representing each club, for the Association trophy.
Thursday, July 22, morning or afternoon—Qualifying round of 18 holes, four strokes of 16 each.
Friday, July 23 morning—First round; afternoon second round.
Saturday, July 24 morning—semi-final; afternoon 18-hole final.

ALEX BEATS CUBS AS CARDS SPLIT DOUBLE HEADER

Veteran Allows Old Mates 4 Safeties; Reds, Cards, Bucs in 3-cornered Fight

Chicago—There is a hot three-cornered battle for the lead in the National league. Cincinnati sets the pace. St. Louis is second and the world's champion Pirates third. Rogers Hornsby has helped his club materially by recent activities in the player market.

Sunday, Alexander, who a few days ago was dismissed by the Cubs for breaking the club rules, pitched the Cardinals to a 5 to 2 victory over his former teammates in the first game of a double header. He allowed only four hits in the second game John Fred Blake of the Cubs pitched a one-hit performance to win 5 to 0, Southworth getting the lone single. Cincinnati's sluggers enjoyed a field day against Pittsburgh, 18 safe hits giving them 16 runs, while Pete Donohue held the Pirates to six bingles and shut them out.

Brooklyn's winning streak which had reached five games, was stopped by Philadelphia, 2-1. Wayland Dean gave the Dodgers only five safeties. Babe Ruth made his 25th home run of the season against Helmech of the Red Sox in a game, which went to the Yankees, 7-1. Lawerri of the Yankees also hit for the circuit.

Detroit carried on its rush record, ing its seventh straight victory at the expense of Cleveland, 5 to 4. Lee, Cleveland catcher, was spotted when Manuch slid home and had to be assisted from the field.

Washington also has a winning streak, now stretched to four games, all from Philadelphia. Stan Harris singled Sunday in the fifth with the bases loaded sending in the winning runs against Philadelphia.

Blankschup also supported by his infield, gave the Chicago White Sox a 6 to 3 victory over St. Louis.

USEFUL HINTS FOR GOLFING STARS

JOCK HUTCHISON—ON THE IRON CLUB SWING
Few golfers understand exactly what is meant by a three-quarter or half swing. The full swing with the iron is similar to the full complete swing with the wooden club. It is not often that a full iron shot is required, as it is quite useless to obtain as much distance this way as it would be with a wooden. What is most sought is direction or accuracy. In using an iron we nearly always attempt to play the ball either on the green or to some safe spot where the green can be reached easily.

The majority of beginners fail to play the iron well because they attempt to hit the ball up into the air instead of permitting the club to do this. Every club is lofted for this purpose.

All that is required in making a good iron shot is skill in making the club hug the ground following along in the track that the ball has taken. If one could strike to hit the ball into the ground he would come nearer to making a putt than the one who attempts to lift the ball up.

LEGION, P.C MEN BATTLE FOR 1ST IN BALL LEAGUE

Wednesday Game Will Decide Top Honors for Week; Other Big Games

TWILIGHT LEAGUE

W. L. Pot. American Legion 4 1 .800
M. C. A. 4 2 .667
Bankers 3 2 .600
Meyer Press 1 3 .250
Interlakes 1 4 .200

WEEKS GAMES
Monday—Y. M. C. A. vs. Bankers.
Wednesday—Legion vs. Post-Crescent.
Friday—Meyer Press vs. Interlake.

LARK LEAGUE

W. L. Pot. Kiwanis 2 1 .667
Rotary 2 1 .667
Lions 1 1 .333
Y's Men 0 2 .000

WEEKS GAMES
Tuesday—Kiwanis vs. Y's Men.
Thursday—Rotary vs. Lions.

Three extra-important games are on tap for softball fans of Appleton this week when the six Twilight League teams clash in decisive battles. On Monday the strengthened Y. M. C. A. squad, in third place, meets the fourth-place Bankers with a win tying them for second with the Legion and a Legion loss on Wednesday shoving them all the way to second place alone. A Bank win will tie that crew with the Triangles for third.

The big struggle of the loop comes Wednesday when the Post-Crescent and Legion squads meet for top honors. At present the P.C. men are on a top but a Legion win will turn the tables and tie the Newspapersmen for second with the Y. If that crew wins Monday, The Triangles are favored to win Monday and the Legion, which whipped the P.C. men before in their only loss, on Wednesday.

Friday comes a battle for cellar honors with odds about even as far as play is concerned, though the Interlakes are given a slight edge. An Interlake win will take that crew from cellar to fifth, shoving the Press win shoving the Papermakers Bankers also lose, the Papermakers will tie them for fourth by a win. A Press win shoves the Papermakers deeper into the cellar and puts the Colvin crew in fourth place if the Bankers lose, otherwise in fifth.

In the Lark loop, the Kiwanis are favored to strengthen their hold on the top while putting the Y's Men farther in the rut. The Rotary-Lions title is anyone's game with the Rotary needing the win to hold to a top tie with the Kiwanis. A Lion win will put that crew in second ahead of the Rotary squad and will spoil a first-place tie. On the other hand, should the Y's Men surprise the Kiwanis, a Rotary win will give that crew a lone berth on top while the Y's Men will tie for third above the Lions. A Kiwanis loss and a Rotary loss would put the Lions alone on top, all inside of a week.

Stribley broke 161 of 175 targets and Clineinst got 95 out of 100. William Nash, Sr., got 61 out of 75 and Falatick got 44 of 50. Mrs. C. W. Stribley hit 101 out of 125 and had one nice long run. John Hofer, William Nash, Sr., W. McFarland and Dr. H. L. Playman appeared at the traps for the first time in a year.

The feature of the day was the performance of William Nash, Jr., an eight-year old youngster, who appears to be a "comer." Shooting with the smallest gun made, the boy scored 15 hits in 25 targets. Mr. Stribley donated a set of tools to the club for work on its new grounds.

WINNER OF JACQUOT CUP DECIDED MONDAY

The winner of the Jacquot trophy, the first cup offered to members of Butte des Morts Country club this year, had not been determined Monday, because some of the play was not completed before early Sunday evening according to P. C. Wesco.

Chairman of the rules, handcap and tournament committee. The tournament was 36 holes of medal play with full handicap applying and only members who had established handicaps on June 1 were eligible. Some of the winners played 18 holes Saturday afternoon and 18 Sunday morning and others played both rounds on Sunday. With a large entry list and many of them not finishing until Sunday evening, the final figures could not be completed as the figuring is rather complicated. The work will be completed Monday evening and prize winners will be announced Tuesday Mr. Wesco said.

YOUTH RECOVERING FROM METAL BURNS

Lloyd Lockin, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Lockin, 90 N. Richmond st, who was severely burned when a hot typewriter fell in his face at the Timmers Construction company plant last Friday afternoon, is recovering nicely at St. Elizabeth hospital.

He will not lose the sight of either eye, according to the attending physician, although it was feared for a time that the burns would result in the loss of the sight of one eye.

The young man will be confined to St. Elizabeth hospital for about ten days.

ANDREWS PLANS BIG DRIVE AGAINST LIQUOR

Washington (AP)—Plans for an other big drive against liquor were outlined Monday by Assistant Secretary Andrews.

As soon as the $3,000,000, additional appropriation now pending in congress is available he said, the treasury will take on about 900 additional men—principally former army and navy men. The attack will be directed against sources of alcohol and will be centered north of the Mississippi and east of the Mississippi rivers with St. Louis and Kansas City also coming in for attention.

'KEEPSIE RACES ON MONDAY CARD

Badgers in Varsity Crew Battle at 6:15 Tonight; Hope to Finish Third

Poughkeepsie, N. Y. (AP)—The pick of college oarsmen from the far west, middle west and east cleared their decks for action Monday.

Nineteen crews, numbering 153 sweep swimmers match their brawn and stamina, late Monday afternoon in three tests of racing speed that carry the championships of the intercollegiate rowing association. The titles have special national significance with Washington, California and Wisconsin meeting five eastern rivals—Cornell, Syracuse, Pennsylvania, Columbia and the naval academy—for supremacy in freshman, junior varsity and varsity races.

Over the picturesque Hudson river course opposite Poughkeepsie at 4:15 eastern standard time, five freshmen crews met in a two mile test. At 6:15 the junior varsity loads raced three miles. At 6:15 p. m. the varsity shells start a four mile race. This is 8:15, western time.

Favorable weather and water conditions were indicated for the twenty-ninth championship regatta, with something like 50,000 or more spectators watching from boats and observation stands.

The competition between east and west was clearly marked out. It found in the opinion of the bulk of critics, Washington and the Navy listed to fight it out for the blue ribbon varsity prize which they have held between them for five successive years. Washington again and Pennsylvania booked to furnish the chief fight for the junior varsity title; California and Columbia slated to make the main battle for freshman honors.

Washington's varsity variety, seeking to regain laurels it held in 1925 and 1924 but lost to the Navy last year, has impressed all who have seen its smooth, powerful form, but the middies are imposing. The Navy's chances apparently depended upon whether Born and Goodenbent who had been on the list, had recovered sufficiently.

The competitors:

Varsity (4 miles): Washington, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Naval Academy, California, Cornell and Syracuse.

Junior Varsity (3 miles): Pennsylvania, Washington, California, Syracuse, Cornell and Columbia.

Freshmen (2 miles): Columbia, California, Pennsylvania, Syracuse, and Cornell.

Of the varsity oarsmen the Washington crew averages 6 feet 3 3/4 inches in height.

AGED WAUPACA WOMAN KILLED

Mrs. Eliza Eastman, Waupaca, was instantly killed late Sunday afternoon when the automobile in which she was riding crashed into another car throwing her out on the road and breaking her neck. The accident happened on highway 48 at Jorgenson's Corners midway between Waupaca and Scandinavia. Mrs. Eastman was 74 years old. The car was driven by Louis Williams, an 18-year old nephew, and the other car which figured in the tragedy was driven by Alfred Wroldstad of Northland.

Details of the accident are lacking but it is thought that neither driver saw the other until it was too late to avoid a collision. There is a sharp turn in the road at Jorgenson's corner. Mrs. Eastman and her three nephews were returning to their home in Waupaca from a few days' visit at Elderon. One of the boys in the car was out in his forehead but the other two escaped unharmed. The body was taken to Waupaca by Sheriff William Toepke.

Henry Rossmeliss and family left Monday for Sawaw where they will spend two weeks.

The Misses Harriet and Anna Smits of Ballard road, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James McGahn, Greenville.

Markets

STOCKS BRING HIGHER PRICES

Rail Shares Continue to Boom on Wall Street Market

New York (AP)—The main trend of stock prices was upward at the opening of Monday's market although initial changes were somewhat conflicting. Favorable earnings reports continued to buoy up the rail shares, with a good demand in evidence for Delaware and Hudson and Union Pacific. Southern Railway, United States Steel, American Locomotive, United preferred and Union Oil of California worked higher but Woolworth, Hudson Motors and American Smelting were heavy.

Predictions that rail earnings for 1926 would exceed those of last year quickened buying interest in the carrier stocks, and prices in this group forged steadily ahead. Nickle Plate and Chesapeake and Ohio, with the additional benefit of the Van Sweringen merger developments, led the advance in which Atchafson, New York Central and other standard investment issues participated. Professional operations were credited with lifting the prices of several industrial specialties, including Fox Film, Pathe Cuba Co. American Tobacco, Crucible Steel and Amerasia Petroleum. American Smelting and Hudson recovered their early losses but United States Rubber, Durns Brothers, A. and T. and Union Pacific declined 2 points.

Foreign exchanges were steady, the dollar sterling opening unchanged at $4.86 3/4 and French francs holding around 2.90 cents.

Thading drifted along without any noteworthy feature in the afternoon dealings, although the rail shares held firm around the year's highest levels. Chesapeake and Ohio reached a new top price at 157 1/2 and renewed selling of Erie, Northern and Western, Atlantic Coast Line and Wheeling and Lake Erie developed. Several specialties, including American Smelting, Reid Ice Cream and Electric Refrigeration fell back two to three points. Call money renewed at 3 1/4 per cent.

The closing was irregular. Sales approximated 900,000 shares.

ROAD CONTRACTS IN STATE PASS 4 MILLION MARK

Work Is Ready to Start on Half of This Year's Highway Program

Contracts for 147 miles of concrete highways at an estimated total cost of $4,342,737.20, and for nearly 200 miles of gravel and crushed stone roads at an estimated cost of $1,715,995 already have been awarded in Wisconsin this year, according to a report from the office of the state highway commission. This includes more than half the state's contemplated construction for 1926.

The concrete projects let thus far include the N. State-st and the S. Chervin projects in this city, which are estimated to cost $454,423.44, and which will require a total of 12,430 square yards of concrete. The 3.02 mile stretch on the Waupaca-Vernon Home road in Waupaca-co. estimated at $94,786.49; and the 3.81 mile road between Oshkosh and Fremont in Winnebago-co., which it is estimated will cost $287,637.61.

Two pieces of road in Outagamie-co. are included in the contract for crushed stone, limestone, or rock surfacing. Both are on state trunk highway 54 between Seymour and Black Creek. One of these is 1.70 miles long and will be completed at an estimated cost of $15,930.56, while the other is 1.996 miles in length and will cost $20,441.41.

Figures in the office of the state highway commission show that contracts have been awarded for 88.75 miles of federal aid concrete roads and 88.46 miles of state aid highways. The cost of the work will amount to $4,342,737.20. The federal aid construction costing $2,741,872.33 and the state aid $1,600,864.85. The average cost per mile of federal work will be $30,892, and of the state aid construction, $27,351.

The program announced by J. T. Donaghey, state highway engineer, for this year includes the building of 250 miles of concrete roads, 115 miles of full depth gravel or crushed stone roads, and 2,225 miles of light gravel surfacing, at an estimated cost of $14,000,000.
